Dr. Matt Brungardt, principal, announced today Chloe White has demonstrated the characteristics necessary to receive this annual award given in honor of a distinguished Kansas educational leader. Recipients of this award are identified from their schools and across the state as individuals who have displayed the citizenship, community and schools service, scholarship, and strong self-awareness that make them a quality individual.

The award was established in 1996 to honor the long and valuable service Dale M. Dennis, former Deputy Commissioner of the Kansas State Department of Education, has provided to the students and educators of Kansas. This award is given to a student who displays the qualities that Dale Dennis embodies: integrity, honesty, a commitment to serving others, and good common sense.
